

U DCWH                      Records of the Co-operative Women's Guild                      1946-2006
(Hull Newland Branch)

Accession number: 2010/24; 2017/27

Historical Background: The Newland Branch of the Co-operative Women's Guild was established in the 1940s, following the inability of an existing North Hull Branch to cope with increasing membership. The branch held regular meetings at which members subscription fees were collected and the work of the branch was discussed. During the 1970s, 1980s, and 1990s meetings were held at the Railway Institute, Anlaby Road, Hull. The branch's work echoed that of the national Co-operative Women's Guild. It involved the organisation of various events to raise money for charities, the participation by branch members in weekend schools held at Scarborough and Wortley Hall nr Sheffield, and the arrangement of annual branch birthday teas and Christmas lunches. Notable presidents of the branch have included Mrs Clarice Scruton, a long-standing member of the Guild and former Yorkshire District Secretary, who was involved in the 1970 Co-operative Women's Guild protest march against price rises under Heath's Conservative Government, and who in the 1990s became the longest serving member of the Labour Party. The 2011/2012 National President of the Co-operative Women's Guild Mrs Lyn Longbottom also served as Vice-President and President of the Newland Branch during the 1990s and 2000s. The Co-operative Women's Guild was dissolved in 2016, at which time the Newland Branch closed.

Custodial history: Deposited by the Newland Branch of the Co-operative Women's Guild in 2010
