

U DX200

Memorials, Holy Trinity Church, Hull

1986

Historical Background:

Holy Trinity Church is the largest parish church in England and is located in the centre of Hull's old town. It was built in the late thirteenth century as a chapel of ease and became a parish church in 1661. There are many memorials within the church, ranging from tombs and effigies to floor slabs and wall-tablets, which date from the fourteenth century right up to the late twentieth century

Custodial history:

Donated by Arthur Lazenby, Kirkella, 23 January 1990

Description:

Volume. 'Memorials: Holy Trinity Parish Church, Kingston upon Hull'. Transcripts and descriptions of memorials in Holy Trinity Church compiled by the Church Recorders of the Hull and East Riding Antiques and Fine Arts Society

Extent: 1 volume

Related material:

Monumental inscriptions of Holy Trinity Churchyard, No. 17 in a series written by the East Yorkshire Family History Society

Access conditions:

Access will be granted to any accredited reader

U DX200/1

Volume. 'Memorials: Holy Trinity Parish Church, Kingston upon Hull'. Photocopied typescript with photographs.

1986

Transcripts and descriptions of memorials in Holy Trinity Church compiled by the Church Recorders of the Hull and East Riding Antiques and Fine Arts Society. Includes historical descriptions of Holy Trinity Parish Church, a plan of the church, index of memorials, a list of church memorial recorders and colour photographs of many of the memorials described

1 volume