

C DBSW Papers of Suddaby and Wright, solicitors of Hull 1890-1939

Historical background: Bedell Suddaby (1864-1944) was a solicitor and Commissioner of Oaths. Born in Hull, Suddaby was articled to the firm of Stead and Sibree and took over the practice on Bishop Lane on the death of John David Sibree in 1906. On his own death in 1944, it was noted that Suddaby was one of the city's oldest serving solicitors. Peter Basil Wright (1917-1981) was taken into partnership with Suddaby just before the start of World War Two. During the war he served in the Royal Army Medical Corps. The legal practice moved to Alfred Gelder Street in 1952. As with many solicitors, most of their work appears to have been related to the administration of wills and property, although they did take on various other cases, such as litigation and naturalisation.

Custodial history: Provenance unknown. The records relating to administration of wills and property, which primarily covered the period up to the late 1930s, have not been retained.

Description: Case and Court papers, legal opinions, letters, memorandums, accounts and registration cards

Extent: 1 box

Related material: Wills Suddaby and Wright administered can be accessed through the Probate Service's 'find a will' facility on their website (for the years 1858- 1996) whilst the National Probate Calendar (1858-1966) is available on Ancestry.

Access conditions: Access will be granted to any accredited reader
