

C DIEN

Papers relating to Thyge Enevoldson,
Hull Trawler Skipper

1890-1933

Historical Background/Biographical Background: Mr Enevoldson was born in Hvinde Sande, a major fishing port in Jutland. His family were farmers and due to sub-division inheritance the resulting land parcels were too small to be viable. Giving up his land to his siblings Mr Enevoldson turned to fishing and moved to Hull around 1885. He became one of the most successful Hull skippers in the early 20th century. He was lost at sea in March 1933 when the ship Lord Derramore struck an iceberg off the North Norwegian coast.

Custodial history: Deposited by Mr Enevoldson's granddaughter, Helen Enevoldson in August 2009

Description: The papers include documents collected by Mr Enevoldson during the normal course of his business and letters, obituaries, newspaper cuttings collected by his family after his death.

Extent: 1 file

Access conditions: Access will be granted to any accredited reader

C DIEN/1 Papers relating to Thyge Enevoldson, Hull Trawler Skipper 1890-1933

Includes: Skippers certificate of competency [1902]; Bills of sale for the trawlers Cukoo and Yorkshire [1896 & 1898]; Extract from retirement speech by Mr. J. McCann praising Mr Enevoldson [c.1936] letter to Mrs Enevoldson from Fiskerhjemmet Betel who visited Mr Enevoldson's son in hospital after the trawler Lord Derramore struck an iceberg off the North Norwegian coast and in which Mr Enevoldson perished [1933]. Some newspaper cuttings are in Danish.
1 file