

C DMTThe Tindall Wildridge Collection*1256-1927

Biographical Background: Thomas Tindall Wildridge (1858-1928), records clerk, antiquarian, artist and author. Wildridge was born in the St Pauls area of Sculcoates in 1858 to Thomas and Elizabeth Wildridge. His father was a local timber merchant. After attending Hull Grammar School, Thomas Tindall was employed in the Hull Dock Offices, before becoming the Corporation of Hull's first records clerk in 1884. He was to be paid £10 per month, with most of his time to be spent on indexing. Despite delivering some 144 cwt of records for destruction he had managed to catalogue numerous others though. Many of these records were likely to have provided him with information for some of his own works, such as 'The Honorary Freedom of Kingston upon Hull' and 'Holderness and Hullshire Historic Gleanings'.

In December 1892, Wildridge submitted a translation of the Edward I Charter. In November 1893 the Corporation gave him three months to complete his work, and by 1894 he had been dismissed. In 1892 Wildridge was the driving force behind the formation of the East Riding Antiquarian Society, which was later 'admitted into union with the Society of Antiquities (of London)'. He later became the honorary librarian of the Municipal Library but failed to get the post of chief librarian of Hull. After retiring, Wildridge moved away from the area and died in 1928 in Waddesdon, near Aylesbury, Buckinghamshire.

Custodial history: Acquired by Thomas Shepherd, Director of Hull Museums in the 1920s. Transferred to the City Archives in 1973.

Originally from Kent, the family eventually established their home and business on Hull's High Street, although they later

	25 items

Historical Background: With a significant radical and non-conformist population, elections in Hull, whether parliamentary or municipal, according to many accounts appear to have been lively and costly affairs. In addition, like many other boroughs, there were certainly cases of corruption and malpractice as well. These items relate to a number of election campaigns. These include: Hull Parliamentary elections, Hull Corporation, Hull School and Health Board elections as well as elections in the East Riding.

Related Material: There are many other records relating to election material in a number of other collections. These include, for example, addresses and papers for Hull and the East Riding at L.324, Newington Local Health Board (C BHN), the Pease family and local elections (C DFP), more examples of election cards and papers (C DFX/27 and within C DMX), Winifred Holtby and elections (L WH) and estate and family papers from across East Yorkshire (for instance U DDCV, U DDSY and U DAS). Hull History Centre: The Tindall Wildridge Collection

Historical Background: Officially entitled the Worshipful Company of Governors, Assistants and Fellowship of Merchants inhabiting the Town of Kingston upon Hull, the society was granted a charter by Elizabeth I. Based on the Merchant Adventurers in other towns, it was for merchants who exported or imported goods. However, it ran into opposition from Hull's Trinity House, who saw it as a threat to their position. In 1664 Trinity House took the Society to court. Trinity House claimed the Society was preventing masters and mariners from importing even small quantities of goods, and were admitting tradesmen who had no export business. Trinity House won its case and the Society began to decline and eventually disappeared.

C DMT/29	Records relating to Hull Town Council 7 bundles	1836-1892

Historical Background: These records relate to the council that was created as a result of the 1835 Municipal Corporations Act. The first election in Hull after the act came into force saw none of those on the council before the reforms re-elected, reflecting the significant shift in power within the town.

Related Material: Further information relating to many of these issues can be found in the various committee minutes of the Town Council, which are on open access within the searchroom. For example, the main council minutes for election details; various specific committees convened for royal visits; the Finance Committee and the Gaol Committee and the Property Committee for details of the Council's Records Room. Information relating to the Hull Charterhouse can be found in the council's the Charterhouse Committee minutes and at C WT. As well as the councils' Improvements Committee, a search through the online catalogue and the card indexes in the library and searchroom areas will produce many records relating the development of the town's docks

On their abolition in 1930, their functions were transferred to Internal Drainage Boards.
