L DLAB Wilson-Barkworth collection: Transcriptions c.15th cent.-1933 manuscripts and notes collected, compiled or written by Arthur Bromley Wilson-Barkworth

Historical Background: Arthur Bromley Wilson-Barkworth was a noted Hull and East Riding antiquarian and a solicitor. Born Arthur Bromley Wilson in Hull in 1854, he graduated from Cambridge University in 1876. Upon marrying Emily Barkworth in 1883 he added Barkworth to his surname. He worked as a solicitor in Hull and died in Kirk Ella in January 1929. Later that year, Hull Libraries purchased the library compiled by Wilson-Barkworth, and his father, Edward Schimells Wilson. The collection originally contained over 1,000 books, manuscripts, engravings and maps, though it is not clear how much of this was acquired by Hull Libraries when it purchased the collection in 1929.

Custodial history: Acquired by Hull Local Studies Library when purchased by the Corporation in 1929. L DLAB/4/5 had formerly been part of the library of Alderman John Brown which was dispersed on 11 Nov 1925 and acquired by Wilson-Barkworth.

Description: The collection contains material acquired by Wilson-Barkworth, or that which was previously in the possession of his father Edward Schimells Wilson. Some of the collection is Wilson-Barkworth's own research and includes correspondence that he had collected or was directly involved with relating to matters of local history. There is no way of ascertaining the original order of the collection and it has therefore been arranged as in 'arrangement'

William Dade was a cleric and antiquarian. William Dade was born at Burton Agnes in 1740, son of Thomas Dade the parishes vicar. He became rector of Barmston, near Bridlington. He was elected a fellow of the Society of Antiquaries of London in 1783. Dade published Proposals for the History and Antiquities of Holderness (1783). Some time after Dade's death, his manuscripts were given to George Poulson, the historian of Beverley, who rearranged and expanded them, publishing The History and Antiquities of the Seignory of Holderness. There was also published 'A Series of seventeen Views of Churches, Monuments, and other Antiquities', originally engraved for Dade's 'History of Holderness' (1835). Those plates were originally published in Poulson's Holderness when it was in part publication, but were later replaced for the complete work; the old engravings were sold separately as the Views.
