L DLRB Broadsides and manuscript papers relating 1745-1756 to the rebellion of 1745

Historical Background: Prince Charles Edward Stuart, known as Bonnie Prince Charlie, led a rebellion in 1745 against King George I in an attempt to place his father, also James Stuart, onto the throne of Britain. With the Jacobites heading south from Scotland, Hull felt at threat, and reacted with a militia force.

Description: Pamphlets, broadsheets and manuscript notes within a bound volume. It includes signature list of the volunteers from Hull who were part of the government forces against the uprising led by Bonnie Prince Charlie, the Young Pretender. Previous library reference L.9.7962 D.

Extent: 1 volume

Related material: At C WM/1 is a subscription list, with some 120 names, for the raising and maintenance of forces from area against the Jacobite Rebellion, while the council's Bench Books (C BRB/) will give an indication as to the town's response to the events.

Access conditions: Access will be granted to any accredited reader

L DLRB/1 Broadsides and manuscript papers relating to the rebellion of 1745

1 volume

11 Sep 1745-9 Mar 1756