| L SLA/3 | The papers of John B. and Mary Estlin
Microfilm copies of the Estlin papers, originals held in Dr. William's Library, Gordon Square, London. The collection includes a minute book of the Bristol and Clifton Auxiliary Ladies Anti-Slavery Society, 1840-60; letters, 1844-81, mostly written to Mary Estlin and including letters that she wrote from America in 1868; and pamphlets and reports, including anti-slavery pamphlets, Civil War pamphlets, and memoirs of abolitionists. The papers illustrate the close connection between British and American abolitionists in the mid-nineteenth century. The Estlins themselves were among the chief supporters of the British anti-slavery movement. Mary Estlin, the daughter of John B. Estlin and to whom most of the letters were written, corresponded extensively with abolitionists in the United States. The pamphlets, many from William Lloyd Garrison's strongholds in New England and Philadelphia, illustrate the deep rifts in the American movement, divisions which spread to Great Britain as well. This series is only available to view on microfilm roll numbers 66-71. Please book a microfilm reader prior to your visit.
